

The futures or options on futures months being traded that are furthest from expiration. Also called deferred or distant months.